

FACULTY OF FINE, APPLIED AND PERFORMING ARTS

Data Privacy Policy for the PARSE email list

The Platform for Artistic Research Sweden (PARSE) collects and stores personal data in form of email addresses. The PARSE email list is the collection of all email addresses.

What type of data do we save

Email addresses only.

How we handle email addresses

We get new addresses when someone subscribes via our website or emails us directly, and we save this data on a server hosted by the University of Gothenburg in Sweden or via createsend.com in the form of an email list. When someone unsubscribes, the address is deleted from all instances of our email list. Subscribers may also contact us via email at parse@konst.gu.se, and we will remove the email address manually.

Why is data collected

To send PARSE newsletters, invitations to PARSE conferences and events, or information about open calls for publication of research work.

Who is allowed to subscribe to this email list

Anyone interested in artistic research.

On which legal ground in the GDPR do we base our collection of data

Consent.

Who is responsible for PARSE mailing list

The Dean at the Faculty of Fine, Applied and Performing Arts is responsible for PARSE's activities. Email list data is for the exclusive use of PARSE researchers and members of the PARSE Working Group. Rose Borthwick is the PARSE Project Coordinator responsible for the ongoing management of the mailing list, and can be contacted via email using the following address: parse@konst.gu.se

This policy was established by PARSE working group on 2018-05-24, and amended 2018-06-19.

PARSE, Platform of Artistic Research is driven by the Faculty of Fine, Applied and Performing Arts, at the University of Gothenburg, Sweden.